DR. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP.—This great medicine cured Dr. J. H. Schenck, the Proprietor, of Pulminary Consumption, when it had assumed its most formidable aspect, and when speedy death appeared to be inevitable. His physicians pronounced his case incurable, when he commenced the use of this simple but powerful remedy. His health was restored, in a very short time, and no return of the disease has been apprehended, for all the symptoms quickly disappeared, and his present weight is more than two hundred pounds.

Since his recovery, he has devoted his attention exclusively to the cure of Consumption, and the diseases which are usually complicated with it, and the cures effected by his medicines have been very numerous and truly wonderful. Dr. Schenck makes professional visits to several of the larger cities weekly, where he has a large concourse of patients, and it is truly astonishing to see poor consumptives that have to be lifted out of their carriages, and in a few months healthy, robust persons. Dr. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills are generally all required in curing Consumption. Full directions accompany each, so that any one can take them without seeing Dr. Schenck, but when it is convenient it is best to see him. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer his fee is three dollars.

Please observe, when purchasing, that the two likenesses of the Doctor—one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other as he now is, in perfect health—are on the Government stamp.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers. Price $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half dozen. Letters for advice should always be directed to Dr. Schenck's Principal Office, No. 15 North 6th Street Philadelphia, Pa.

WHAT EVERY ONE WANTS.—A good, reliable medicine that will be on hand when required, and never fails when called on, That is now to be obtained in Dr. Tobias' Celebrated Venitian Liniment. Many thousands call it the Wonder of the Age, as it does all that is represented and more. It cures Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Spasms, Vomiting, Croup, and Sea-sickness as surely as it is used, and is perfectly innocent to take internally, even in double the quantity named in the directions; and as an external remedy for Chronic Rheumatism, Cuts, Bruises, Old Sores, Mumps, Toothache, Headache, Sore Throat, Sprains, Insect Stings, Pains in the Back, Chest, and Limbs, thousands have testified to, and their certificates can been seen by any one at the Doctor's Depot, 56 Cortlandt street, New York. Hundreds of Physicians use it in their practice. It has been introduced since 1847, and hundreds who now have it in their houses, say they would not be without it even if it was $10 per bottle. Every drop is mixed by Dr. Tobias himself, and can be depended on. Only 50 cents and $1 per bottle. Sold by Druggists. Depot 56 Cortlandt St., New York. [Oct. 3-1m.

USE THE BEST.—Blades' Euphonial Lubricators are a medical preparation in the form of a Lozenge, and are universally considered the most pleasant, convenient and effectual remedy in use for Hoarseness, Coughs, Colds, Croups, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Diptheria, and all Pulmonary Complaints. They are WARRANTED to give quicker and more lasting benefit in the above affections than any other remedy. Also to contain no deleterious ingredient, and not to offend the weakest and most sensitive Stomach.

Blades' Constitution Pills are so called because of their peculiar effect upon the Liver, Stomach, Blood and Nervous System. For inactivity of the Liver, for the Stomach in derangement, or Dyspepsia, they will delight the patient with their mild and beneficial effect, especially if after long continued indigestion and costiveness, they are left with periodical returns of the Sick Headache. In case of a severe cold, producing Chills and Fever, you can break it very soon by using the Pills as per directions with each box. JOHN H. BLADES & CO.,

AN IRISHMAN'S REVENGE.

During the autumn of the year 1798 half the county of Wexford was in a state of insurrection. This partial revolt, however, led to no important results. The insurgents were defeated and compelled to submit once more to the iron rod of the English government. To restrain the populace, to ferret out and inflict summary justice on the guilty, numerous detachments of soldiers were sent, who overran the whole country. One of these detachments had established itself for several days on the little island of the Virgin, when one morning the commanding officer received a visit from one of the sergeants.

"Well, Dennis," he inquired, "what's the news?"

"They've brought in Patrick O'Darcy," replied the sergeant, "and I have ordered out a platoon, and I now come to receive your honor's orders to shoot the prisoner."

"Have we a right to do so?" demanded the officer.

"With your honor's permission, I believe it is always lawful to rid the country of a rebel and papist. Besides, he spent all last night from his home, which is a sufficient crime of itself."

"Is it known where he went, and what he has been doing during the night?"

"I have heard it said that he went to see his brother, the sailor, who lately arrived at Wexford; but that story is not clearly proven, and this O'Darcy does not bear too good a reputation. Shall I despatch him?"

"By my faith, Dennis," replied the officer, "since he is now in our hands we can't go wrong, I think, in sending the fellow out of the world."

The sergeant immediately withdrew.

Left alone, the officer, reflecting on what had passed, quickly repented of having so lightly condemned to death a man who was probably innocent. Springing up he hastened to stop the execution, but had not taken twenty steps before he heard a discharge of musketry. The next moment he found himself in the presence of the inanimate corpse of the victim. He was a young man of great size and of a handsome and interesting appearance. His clothes were such as are worn by the poor class of Ireland. After viewing him for an instant, the officer retired racked with remorse.

Among the spectators of this frightful scene was the brother of Patrick O'Darcy. The execution over, he hastened to the dwelling of the deceased's widow, uttering words of vengeance against the murderers. He had scarcely entered when some one knocked.

"It is the priest," cried one of the children who ran to open the door.

Walking into the cottage, the man of God found the brother of Patrick O'Darcy engaged in cleaning an old pistol, while the two eldest sons of the murdered man were melting lead to run into bullets. As for the poor widow, she sat on a high stool near the fire, regarding with dry eyes and a vacant stare the preparations going on around her.

"Is it an assassination you intend to commit?" said the priest with severity, addressing himself to the brother of Pat'k O'Darcy.

"They have killed my brother in cold blood—my innocent brother," replied the sailor, still continuing to polish the rusty weapon which he held in his hands.

"What!" said the priest, "thoughts of revenge in the heart of a Christian?—Does not God forbid the shedding of blood? Leave to Him the punishment of the guilty; terrible remorse in this life, eternal punishment in the other, will do justice to the crimes committed here below."

He continued to speak for a long time in this tone. The sailor sometimes nodded his head—sometimes hazarded a brief observation. At last the words of the priest seemed to make an impression upon him. He interrupted the good man, reflected a moment, and then said:

"I believe, in fact, you are right. It is his conscience alone which shall avenge me. I promise that I will not raise a hand against him."

On the evening of the same day, while the officer was in his chamber reflecting bitterly on the events of the morning, the sergeant rushed in, his face pale as death and his hair flowing in disorder. He handed to the officer a letter with a black seal, which was found to contain simply these words:

"Patrick O'Darcy died Oct. 1, 1798.
"Capt. O'Gunnell will die Oct. 1, 1799.
"TWELVE MONTHS."

"Who gave you this letter?" demanded the officer.

"Patrick O'Darcy," replied the sergeant, with a trembling voice.

"Patrick O'Darcy is dead, you fool."

"I assisted at his execution, and I was present when his corpse was thrown into the lake," replied the sergeant, "but if the words I now pronounce were the last which should ever issue from my mouth, I would swear that it was himself who brought the letter."

O'Gunnel was not superstitious, yet this mysterious letter inspired him with some uneasiness; but it soon vanished—five days after he thought no more of the matter. The first of November found him in Dublin, when the hostess of the house at which he put up brought him a letter which had been left for him by an Irishman of uncommon height. This letter was precisely like the first, excepting that the number of months was reduced to eleven. O'Gunnel, on reading this second billet, felt his fears revive and his remorse returned more poignant than ever, and the reproaches of his guilty conscience began to persuade him that there was something supernatural in this strange occurrence. He had informed no one of his journey to Dublin, where he had arrived only the evening before. What living being, then, could have divined his intentions and discovered him so soon? A vague but unceasing restlessness preyed upon him, and appetite and sleep both abandoned him. He strove to drown his sufferings by plunging into the whirlpool of pleasure, but nothing could relieve his gloomy thoughts. The mental disease under which he found himself failing followed him everywhere.

The first of December found him at a table surrounded by numerous friends.—He was on the point of drinking a toast when a servant handed him a letter bearing a black seal. He turned pale on receiving it, and fell back into his chair without uttering a word. Pretending sudden indisposition, he soon left the apartment. The next day he quitted Dublin, to go, as he said, on a hunting expedition among the mountains of Wicklow, a single servant accompanying him.

It was no idea of pleasure or amusement that brought O'Gunnel among the mountains. He considered every kind of happiness or enjoyment as a dream of the past. All that he hoped for was a partial relief, momentary forgetfulners of his ills, and he sought it in bodily fatigue and the activity of country life. But the recollection of the island of the Virgin never forsook him. Look which way he would a bloody phantom was incessantly by his side. Thus passed the month of December.

One day O'Gunnel, returning from a long mountain excursion, passed through a narrow path which followed the course of a rivulet. At a turn in a road, he suddenly perceived a man, who standing on a little knoll, pointed to a huge rock with his hands, near which he had to pass. O'Gunnel attentively scrutinized this singular being; it was O'Darcy!—his hair stood erect, his blood curdled in his veins, his hand mechanically grasped a pistol which he continually carried, and he fired. A smile of derision gleamed athwart the visage of O'Darcy, who, without moving continued to point at the rock. In a few moments he disappeared as if by enchantment. Approaching the spot designated, O'Gunnel, found a letter—it announced that he had but nine months to live.

After this apparition, O'Gunnel no longer doubted that there was something supernatural in his mysterious adventure. His fears, his suffering redoubled, and it was with a deadly terror that he saw the dreaded day approach which should bring him another warning.

The day at length arrived, but nothing extraordinary happened to O'Gunnel, and night approached without his having received any letter; this excited in his breast a hope that the charm was broken. Filled with joy, he returned towards his dwelling, when, wishing to cross a small lonely bridge, he met a man who seemed desirous to dispute the passage. Face to face he recognized him as a poor Catholic gentleman, whose house he had burned during his last expedition against the insurrectionists in Wexford. O'Gunnel requested him to make way; but the other, without budging, stared him in the face, and said:

"I have waited for you."

"You wait for me!" replied O'Gunnel. "I have nothing to do with rebels and papists."

"Scoundrel!" exclaimed the old gentlemen, "have a care what you say."

The blood rushed to O'Gunnel's face.

"No man ever insulted me with impunity," he exclaimed, "choose quickly one of these two pistols, and defend yourself. All that once comprised my happiness has been ravished from me, ravished by you, and although death seems to me preferable to the existence I now lead, I will not profit by the advantage I have over you on this occasion. The hand of an assassin always trembles."

"Does my hand tremble?" shouted O'Gunnel in a paroxysm of rage.

The old man smiled disdainfully, drew a paper from his bosom, and presented it to O'Gunnel.

"Ha! does your hand tremble now?"

O'Gunnel had hardly taken the paper when his knees trembled and he fainted. When he had recovered his consciousness, the old gentleman had disappeared, but he saw at some distance the sombre figure of O'Darcy gazing fixedly at him.

It would take too much time to narrate all the attempts O'Gunnel made to escape from his persecutor, and discard the forebodings which incessantly beset him. He traveled over nearly all England, flying from one place to an other, without being able to evade those fatal letters which reached him regularly on the first of every month, in spite of all the care he took to conceal himself from every eye.

In this extremity, he resolved to expatriate himself and go over to Amsterdam, on a visit to a relative who many years previous had established a commercial house in that city. Accordingly he embarked on a ship bound to Rotterdam, and when the shores of England disappeared from view, it seemed as though a great weight had been removed from his heart. During the night the sea roughened, and soon a violent storm having arisen, the vessel was in peril. O'Gunnel hastened on deck and watched the sailors lowering the mainsail, when the lightning flashed vividly and he saw among them O'Darcy himself, who flung a letter sealed with black at his feet, and was instantly shrouded in darkness. It is impossible to describe the anguish which the unhappy man experienced at this sight. He felt that it was all over with him. Henceforth not a hope remained; his heart broke with grief and despair. When he reached the residence of his relative, so much was he changed they could hardly recognize him. A livid palor overspread his countenance, a burning fever consumed him. Instead of the gay companion, the joyous guest whom they once knew, they found a man prematurely old, sad, morose; seldom speaking, and never smiling. His relative, pained as much as astonished at this transformation, only questioned O'Gunnel; but he always evaded a reply, and many weeks passed before he had made the slightest disclosure.

At length one day, while promenading together along the canal which traverses the Heeren-Gratt, one of the principal streets in Amsterdam, the merchant urged him more earnestly than usual to reveal the cause of his condition. O'Gunnel maintained silence. "If it is remorse that torments you?" said his relative, you had better seek the consolation of religion."

"Alas!" said O'Gunnel, with bitterness, "I cannot pray. That consolation is denied me. I have but one day longer to live on earth. I cannot. My persecutor follows me step by step; this evening, at five o'clock, I shall be a corpse and yet I cannot pray; befiold him even now!" he suddenly exclaimed, trembling in every limb, and pointing with his finger at a tall young man who marched slowly along the other side of the canal.

They were obliged to carry O'Gunnel home to the house of his relative; he was so weak that he could sustain himself no longer. The merchant, persuaded that his malady was purely imaginary, had a clock placed in front of the bed, having previously put the hand forward half an hour. In proportion as the fatal moment drew near, the state of the disease grew worse; but when the clock had struck five, the unfortunate man became somewhat better, and they began to conceive hopes of his recovery. At this time, the sound of footsteps were heard in the adjoining apartment, the door was thrown rudely open, and a young man entered whom they readily recognized as an Irishman by his dress. O'Gunnel raised himself in a sitting position, threw a rapid glance upon the intruder, and fell back dead in his bed.

It was the brother of Patrick O'Darcy.

A WESTERN ROMANCE.

In the early part of the rebellion John Hughes, who at the time lived in Aledo, a little town some twenty miles from Muscatine, and in Illinois, went into the army. But a week before his enlistment he married an estimable young lady, to whom he had long been betrothed. It was the desire of both that the nuptials should be celebrated before his departure. We suppose John's experience for a while was similar to that of hundreds of other young men who volunteered in defence of their country. On General Smith's expedition up Red river, however, he had the misfortune to be wounded, and in that condition fell into the hands of the enemy after the battle of Pleasant Hill. He was sent with others to Tyler, Texas, where he became insane, and from thence he was transferred to the insane asylum at Austin. The news came back home that he was killed at Pleasant Hill, and he was so reported on the rolls of his regiment. His young bride mourned for him nearly two years, when, on the advice of her parents and friends, she accepted the hand of another, and they were married last December. Her first husband was discharged from the asylum restored again to his reason, and as soon as he accumulated the necessary means he started for home. Arriving at New Boston, the nearest river town to Aledo, he fell in with a man from that place, and without making himself known, soon learned the condition of affairs at home. Grieved beyond expression, he thought over the situation, and finally determined, like Enoch Arden, to leave his whilom wife and her new-found love to themselves. Following out the resolve, he came to this city, and thence went up into Tama county, where he had distant relatives living. The desire to hear from his old home at last became so absorbing that, under an assumed name, he subscribed to the Aledo Record, the village paper. Last month he saw an announcement of the death of his wife's second husband, together with a paragraph sympathizing with the bereaved widow, and giving an account of his own melancholy death as illustrative of the hardness of her lot. Knowing that his wife was again free, he forgot whatever resentment he might have felt over her second marriage, and on Saturday last he put in his appearance in person. What was said at the eventful meeting we have no idea.—Whether, without a word, the reunited couple rushed to each other's arms and vowed that bygones should be bygones, or whether criminations and recriminations followed, only to be at last overcome by the hallowed recollections of days before the war, we know not. We do know, though, that the couple came to this city Monday night, put up at the Ogilvie, and yesterday took the train westward for their new home in Tama county. If appearances are to be relied on, we will wager our bottom dollar that to-day there is not a happier man this side of the Rocky Mountains than this same John Hughes. As for Mrs. John Hughes, dear reader, she looked less like a widow than she did like a bride, and if you can draw any conclusions from this statement you are welcome to them.—[Muscatine (Iowa) Gazette.

A STRANGE CAREER.

Most, if not nearly all, of our citizens have noticed a dissipated vehicle, somewhat resembling a circus wagon, located on a vacant lot on North Main street, in which resides an old and poverty-stricken man. Some time in the spring the wagon, propelled by a couple of attenuated horses, arrived in the city, and the old man pitched his tent in the place mentioned, where, through the charity of the owners, he has since been permited to dwell. Here he has lived ever since, eking out an existence by the donations of our benevolent citizens, he having disposed of the horses for a small sum. Yesterday, F. S. Murphy, Esq., one of our prominent lawyers, received a call from a Scotch gentleman named McGregor, who, after a long and weary search, had found the individual named whom we have thus described, and whom he identifies as the youngest son of the late Earl of Clanricarde, one of the wealthiest and most influential noblem en in Scotland.

The story related by Mr. McGregor is almost marvelous in its details, and would furnish the materials for a first class three-volume novel. Some forty years since, the poor old man who has attracted the compassion of our citizens, was a dashing and stylish officer in the Life-Guards; becoming enamored of a beautiful girl of humble origin, he married her in opposition to the commands of his proud father and remonstrances of an equally proud elder brother. Being disinherited and thrown upon the world, he sold his commission and with his wife came to this country. After five years of vicissitude upon a rugged farm in the western wilds, his wife died, and broken in spirit and sore at heart, he relinquished his claim and roamed without aim or purpose over the country.

During the Mexican war he enlisted as a private soldier, and served until the close of hostilities. Since then he has been the companion of roving Indians, a deck hand on steam boats, a pedler, &c., until his arrival in this city. By the death of his elder brother, which occurred about four months since, he has become the possessor of estates to the value of $120,000 per annum. His good fortune, alas! has come too late. Prostrate in mind and enfeebled in body, he cannot realize, nor can he long enjoy, the princely fortune to which he has fallen heir. Yesterday evening, in care of Mr. Gregor, he embarked on the evening train, en route for his lordly mansion in Inverness, Scotland. Fortune smiled too late. His early love sleeps by La Belle Riviere, and he lives a poor wreck of his former self—too imbecile to heed the smiles or frowns of fortune—Decatur (Ill.) Magnet, Sept. 21.

TWO YOUNG LADIES TREE A NAKED YOUTH.—A young man of Liberty county, Miss., who a short time previous won the heart and hand of a neighborhood girl, denuded himself of his fig leaves for the very pleasant object of taking a bath in the creek. Scarcely had he submerged his heated frame in the cooling waters ere he heard the crackling of twigs and the silvery ring of girlish laughter, and looking up, he saw—horrendum monstrum!—the object of his affection and a female companion approaching. Quicker than thought and unperceived, he made for the bank, and running nimbly up a tree, there waited the end of his predicament. The young ladies approach—our hero's heart thumps—they stop just beneath the tree that holds him, and very naturally start with surprise when they see a man's clothing on the ground and no wearer about. Our friend above shuddered at their curiosity, desiring to make his retreat more secure, moves cautiously higher up, but accidentally puts his whole weight on a decayed limb, which breaks and drops him, with all his blushing charms, pop in the midst of the girls! He of course spins off at a tangent like a bursted shell in one direction, and they retreat equally as fast and horrified in another.

NATURAL CURIOSITIES.—A singular curiosity in Martin county, Indiana, is thus described: "It stands alone in the dense forest, a gigantic stone jug about fifty feet in hight, about five feet in diameter, at the base, eight feet midship, and two feet at the top, upon which rests a broad flat rock, about ten by fifteen feet, covered with bushes and wild ivy; and some three feet from the centre stands a small tree. The rock is a great curiosity, and a view of it should never be lost by the traveler passing that way."

"WE SAY," says Dean Swift in one of his most sarcastic moods, "what God thinks of riches by the people he gives them to."

TRICKS OF A JUGGLER.

The far-famed Robert Heller, who is now delighting crowds by his weird performances, cannot be satisfied with his legitimate triumphs before an audience, but occasionally does a neat thing for his own amusement, very much to the surprise of those who happen to be present. On Saturday last, while passing an itinerant vender of cheap provisions, Mr. Heller suddenly paused and inquired:—

"How do you sell eggs, auntie?"

"Dem eggs," was the response; "dey am a picayune apiece—fresh, too, de last one of 'em; biled 'em myself, and know dey's fust rate."

"Well I'll try 'em," said the magician as he laid down a bit of fractional currency. "Have you pepper and salt?"

"Yes, sir, dere dey is," said the sable sales-woman, watching her customer with intense interest.

Leisurely drawing out a neat little penknife, Mr. Heller proceeded very quietly to cut the egg exactly in half, when suddenly a bright new twenty-five cent piece was discovered lying imbedded in the yolk, apparently as bright as when it came from the mint. Very coolly the great magician transferred the coin to his pocket, and taking up another egg, inquired:—

"And how much do you ask for this egg?"

"De Lord bress my soul! Dat egg!—De fact am, boss, dis egg is worth a dime, shuar."

"All right," was the response; "here is the dime. Now give me the egg."

Separating it with an exact precision that the colored lady watched eagerly, a quarter eagle was most carefully picked out of the centre of the egg, and placed in the vest pocket of the operator, as before. The old woman was thunderstruck as well she might have been, and her customer had to ask her price for the third egg two or three times before he could obtain a reply.

"Dar's no use talkin', mars'r," said the bewildered old darkey. "I can't let you hab dat ar egg, nohow, for less dan a quarter, I declare to de Lord I can't."

"Very good," said Heller, whose imperturable features were as solemn as an undertaker's, "there is your quarter and here is the egg. All right."

As he opened the last egg, a brace of five-dollar gold pieces were discovered snugly deposited in the very heart of the yolk, and jingling them merrily together in his little palm, the savant coolly remarked:

"Very good eggs, indeed. I rather like them; and while I am about it, I will buy a dozen. What is the price?"

"I say price!" screamed the amazed daughter of Ham. "You couldn't buy dem eggs, mars'r, for all de money you' got. No, dat you couldn't. I'se gwin to take dem eggs all home, I is; and da money in dem eggs all b'longs to me—i dose dat. Couldn't sell no more of den eggs, nohow."

Amid the roar of the spectators, the benighted African started to her domicil to "smash dem eggs," but with what success we are unable to relate.

AN ACCOMMODATING YOUNG MAN.—A little incident occurred last week in one of the cars of the Hartford and New Haven railroad, which gave a gratifying proof of the deference paid by young men to the wishes of the ladies, and their readiness to supply a want as soon as it becomes known. The car in question was nearly filled, as the cars are apt to be in this day of travel. Its floor near the door was covered with tobacco juice, as, alas, car floors are likely to be in this day when the use of the vile weed so much prevails. At one of the way stations a well dressed lady entered the car, looked with unconcealed disgust at the pools of yellow and slimy juice on the floor, then raised her dress slightly and picked her way across. The only vacant sitting in the car was in a seat occupied in part by a young man, who at once made room for the lady by his side. As soon as she was seated, with a look of relief, mingled with one of solicitude, the lady asked her seat mate: "Do you chew tobacco?" "No ma'am," was the reply, "but I can get you a chaw if you like." The look of disgust again crept over the lady's face while those sitting by smiled audibly.—Hartford Courant.

A LADY in Rhinebeck was reading to her child—a boy of seven years of age—a story of a little fellow whose father was taken ill and died; whereupon the youngster set himself diligently to work to assist in supporting himself and his mother. When she had finished the story, the following dialogue ensued:

Mother—Now, my little man, if pa were to die, wouldn't you work to help your mother?

Boy—(Not relishing the idea of work)—Why ma, what for? Ain't we got a good house to live in?

Mother—O, yes, my child, but we can't eat the house, you know.

Boy—Well, ain't we got flour, and sugar, and other things, in the storeroom?

Mother—Certainly we have, my dear, but they will not last long; and what then?

Boy—Well, ma ain't there enough to last until you can get another husband?

A roar of laughter ended the colloquy.

PRIDE is as loud a beggar as want, and a great deal more saucy.

EBENSBURG, PA.,

CONGRATULATORY ADDRESSES

DEMOCRATIC STATE COMMITTEE ROOMS,
PHILADELPHIA, October 9, 1867.

To the Democracy of Pennsylvania:

Victory crowns your efforts and Pennsylvania is redeemed.

The Keystone proclaims her hatred of despotism, her fealty to the law, her fidelity to the Constitution.

You have elected Judge SHARSWOOD, a representative man, to the Supreme Bench; reversed the majority of last year, and added to the number of your Senators and members of the House of Representatives.

New York and New Jersey will follow where you have led, and the future is your own if you will grasp it.

To your untiring efforts in the work of organization is this result mainly due, and to you belongs the honor of the triumph.

New honors await you, new labors are before you.

You have won the fight for position, let us now prepare for the great battle of the coming year.

Pledging ourselves to the maintenance of a government of law for the entire Republic, to the preservation of the supremacy of our own race, to the development of our immense resources, to the reform of abuses, corruption and extravagance, and through these to the relief of the tax-payer, and the payment of the public debt, let us move resolutely forward.

By order of the Democratic State Committee,
WILLIAM A. WALLACE,
Chairman.

To the Democracy of Cambria County:

We have achieved a glorious victory. "Little Cambria" still occupies her proud position in the very front of the Democratic column. The official majority is 952—being a net gain of 300 on the vote of last fall. The majority on the county ticket is still higher, owing to the popularity of our candidates and the reaction caused by a slanderous handbill on the eve of the election.

The Democracy performed their whole duty nobly; yet not to them alone are we to ascribe the extent of our triumph. Many conservative Republicans, alarmed at the wild measures of the radicals, voted for our candidates, while a still greater number refused to vote. We know they will rejoice with us that the hand of the destroying angel of Radicalism has been stayed.

The State has gone for Judge Sharswood by about 744 majority. Ohio has elected a Republican Governor by a very small majority, but on the other hand has voted down the negro amendment by 50,000. In Indiana and Iowa we have also large gains.

We trust, now that the free North has spoken, that the warning voice will be heeded—that we shall have an immediate restoration of that Union to preserve which we have expended so much blood and treasure, and that the present burdens of the people will be relieved by a return to the peace establishment and an economical administration of the government.

R. L. JOHNSTON.
Chairman Democratic Co. Com.

A REPLY TO THE LIBEL.

It has been a subject of congratulation in past elections, here in Cambria county, that low personal abuse has been avoided by both parties. The canvass through which we have just passed has been eminently so, so far as the press is concerned. But there has been that done which we trust, for decency sake, will never be repeated in Cambria county; and from the rebuke it has met at the hands of the people we think there are no fears of a repetition of the same dastardly game.

The Democratic ticket was nominated some three months before the election, and the character of every man on that ticket was fairly presented to the scrutiny of every elector. The columns of a free press, representing both political parties, was open to any charges that could be referred against any candidate by any responsible party. No charges were made, because we believe none could be truthfully made.

On the very eve of the election, however, after the respective papers had issued their last number before the election, a slanderous handbill was got up by some midnight assassin of character, printed outside of Cambria county, and, through the medium of the post office, scattered all over the country. We give this beautiful production to the world:

AN INSIDE VIEW OF POLITICS.

THE WAY THE MONEY GOES.

'Tis a true saying, that if the people knew how their money was spent, taxes would not be easily collected. This saying applies with peculiar force, to Cambria County. Look for instance at your Poor House, where about fifty persons are indifferently supported at a cost of $10,000 per year. Of course no sane man believes that such a sum is spent for the benefit of the inmates. The present Steward, having made much money as he is likely to need, has kindly consented to withdraw, remaining a silent partner. The present County Treasurer being at last settlement a defaulter, in the sum of near $4,000.00, and the leading politicians of town being his security, the candidate for Poor House Director, a brother-in-law of the Treasurer, who has enough of the County's money to start a Shoe Store, is nominated, and the Treasurer, being a cousin of another Director, and a cousin of the candidate for Sheriff, is to be appointed Steward of the Poor House, so that these worthies can get their money back, ex necessitate. This is the plan, it may be altered as to form, but not as to substance. But bad as this is, the operations of your Commissioner's office is far worse. Think of paying your Commissioners $2,400.00 for doing the business which a good business man can do forty in days. Think too of paying $2,600.00 for the support of about, on an average, six persons for a year in your jail. But you may ask, have we not Auditors to settle all these accounts yearly. Unfortunately the Auditors seldom know anything about their business. They come to town, and the first persons with whom they confer are the Commissioners. They tell the Auditors they must have a Clerk, and that the Commissioner's Clerk is the proper person; he is employed, and as one of the Auditors is always to be Commissioner next year, any and all bills are soon passed.

They then go to the Poor House, where the Directors' Clerk and the Commissioners' Clerk soon settle the accounts and cover all tracks. This is the system, and it is time the people knew it. The papers will never say a word, because they almost live by receiving exorbitant bills for public printing. People of Cambria county, whatever denial of the above may be made, you may rest assured that the half has not been told. The remedy is in your hands, and if you do not use it, you deserve to be taxed to death. Break up these camps of dishonesty, the Commissioners and Poor House Directors, and your burdens will be lightened, otherwise those burdens will be doubled within a few years.

This mean, poisonous libel was without a signature, and was accompanied by a ticket headed by Sharswood and Linton, and the rest made up of the radical candidates. It elicited the following reply:

CAMBRIA FREEMAN—EXTRA.

MIDNIGHT LYING.

The Democratic ticket of Cambria county was fairly nominated, in broad daylight, in an open Convention, where all the world might witness the proceedings. From that time to the present neither of the two republican papers in Cambria county, conducted by men responsible for what they say, have dared to utter a word against the honesty or fitness of the respective candidates, and when we made no charge against the Republican candidates, we supposed the canvass would be conducted on principle.

We were mistaken. A foul and slanderous midnight handbill has gone out, on the eve of the election, not signed by the respectable Chairman of the Republican Committee "Dr. TELL, FOR" by any responsible name, no Republican in the county being mean enough to father it. No doubt it was hatched in the midnight orgies of the League.

We do not blame the Republicans HERE, as the only candidate on their ticket from this section of the county, Samuel Singleton, Esq., has been sacrificed by the movement.

This handbill contains more falsehoods than sentences, and is a libel not only on nearly all the leading Democrats in the county, but on the Democratic party itself. Not content with lying about the candidates, it has the wickedness to slander Col. McDermitt, a brave soldier, as a heavy defaulter without the shadow of truth, as he has not a dollar of public money in his hands. Thus are the soldiers of the Republic slandered for the purpose of electing a Canadian Radical Sheriff and a poor tool Poor House Director.

It will be time enough after the election to trace up the parties to this infamous libel. For the present we can only say to our fellow Democrats, BE ON YOUR GUARD AGAINST FALSE TICKETS. EXAMINE EVERY TICKET BEFORE YOU VOTE, for along with this handbill is a Republican ticket bearing the names of Judge Sharswood and Col. Linton, and the balance of the ticket Republican, and another with all the Democratic nominees upon it excepting John A. Blair and John D. Thomas.

Fellow Democrats! we shall carry the State; but let not the election of Judge Sharswood, and the joy it will afford, be dampened by the defeat of a single candidate on our ticket, especially when the effort is made through secret midnight handbills.

R. L. JOHNSTON,
Chairman Dem. Co. Com.

But it was not needed. The people of Cambria county have too much sense to swallow a midnight fetch of this kind. Some preserved the bill as a literary curiosity, some burnt it, and some even converted it to an unseemly purpose—but perhaps not a score of them voted the ticket which accompanied it. On the contrary, while the fraudulent ticket conspired with Col. Linton's popularity to throw our friend, Mr. Singleton, behind his ticket, the reaction on the part of right-minded Republicans, ran the other Democratic candidates ahead of Sharswood.

The ignorance of the poor devil who got up the bogus ticket is equal to his impudence, as he spelled Sheriff Rickman's name wrong, took an "M" out of Commissioner Flanagan's name, an "A" and a "t" out of Treasurer McDermitt's, a "B" out of Coroner Stineman's, and made an Auditor of Thomas Van Scoyoc instead of John.

But enough! It may be some consolation to the getters-up of this handbill to know that they are despised by every decent Democrat and Republican in the county.

—A "lovely girl" in Wisconsin recently recovered fourteen hundred dollars damages in a breach of promise suit against a perfidious lover. Her lawyer congratulated her on the amount, when she exclaimed, with a furious glance towards the mulcted defendant, and nervously clenching her fingers, "I'd give every cent of it for one good pull at his hair!"

—On the 10th salutes of one hundred guns were fired by the Democracy of Worcester, Mass., Auburn, N. Y., Bangor and Portland, Maine, Baltimore, Maryland, whilst at Lockport and Watertown, N. Y., illuminations, bonfires and firing of cannon were indulged in, over the victory in this State and the great success in Ohio.

THE JOHNSTOWN TRIBUNE.

Our Johnstown neighbor is disposed to be severe upon the Chairman of the Democratic County Committee for a short address issued by him on the eve of the election, in reply to a scurrilous, anonymous handbill which had made its appearance. There was little time for reflection, and we had to meet a most dastardly act, yet if we did injustice even to the League we are sorry for it. When a paper appeared playing into the hands of the radicals, it was natural to suppose it came from their camp; yet we exonerated every decent Republican from any share in it.

We are under obligations to the Tribune for considering the Chairman no "blockhead," especially as that epithet, never very flattering, has grown worse in signification since Greeley applied it to the radicals, but think he should not be quite so sensitive on the subject of smell, consiting the crowd who have been to the windward of him for the last few years.

RETURNING REASON.

The following very sensible remarks appeared in the Pittsburgh Chronicle, a radical paper, on the morning after the election. We commend them to the thinking portion of the Republicans here:

The imperfect returns of the vote on yesterday in the Western Reserve, Ohio, show a state of sentiment which we confess takes us by surprise. We supposed that there would be in that section little division amongst the republicans relative to the Amendment giving suffrage to black men. It appears, however, that there has not been such unanimity in the party on that question, even on the Reserve, as had been conjectured, and it will very seriously raise the inquiry whether we can in justice demand the South to do what we refuse to do ourselves. A defection on the question of suffrage in strong Republican districts will very naturally excite people to consider the propriety of insisting as an absolute condition of restoration on the enfranchisement of the blacks in States where they far outnumber the white voters, whilst we of the North are unwilling to extend suffrage to the few blacks who live in our midst, and whose vote could exercise no material influence over public affairs.

OHIO.—The Cincinnati Enquirer says the political success in this State is perfectly wonderful. Of the 42,000 Radical majority which towered so high last year, hardly a vestige remains. There has been a change for the Democrats in the total vote, of at least ten per cent. The most sanguine expectations of the Democracy have been more than realized. The Republicans, putting confidence in the loud boasts and taunts of their organs of what immense majorities they would obtain, are dumbfounded at the result. They had no premonition of the tremendous popular hurricane that was setting in. It struck them like a thunderbolt, delivered from a clear sky. They now see the "handwriting on the wall," which presages their future doom. Their ascendancy in Ohio is irretrievably broken, if only a moderate degree of sense shall actuate the Democratic party.

HON. WILLIAM A. WALLACE.—At a time when every man has done his duty, it is perhaps invidious to single out a particular name to mention with especial praise. But no one will find fault with our calling attention to the able and energetic manner in which the Chairman of the Democratic State Committee discharged all his duties. The position he occupied required capacity of a peculiar order, and we rejoice that such a competent and efficient leader was placed at the head of the Democratic column during the campaign which has just terminated in a glorious victory for the Democratic cause. Mr. WALLACE labored earnestly and faithfully. He gave all his time to a proper organization of the Democratic forces, and we, in common with thousands in our midst, heartily thank him for the marked ability he displayed in the performance of his official duties.—Age.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

—Gen. Barr is defeated for Senator in Allegheny by Russell Errett by only 5,400 votes. The General made a good run.

—A quiet, inoffensive Democrat named Richard Taylor was so badly beaten on election day by Philadelphia Radicals that he cannot recover.

—The President has pardoned sixteen soldiers who were convicted last summer by court-martial of joining in Fenian demonstrations at Buffalo.

—It is believed in Chicago that Mrs. Lincoln's circumstances are not so straightened as represented. It is intimated that a wedding is in contemplation.

—Sharp Yankee skippers now load their schooners at Boston with molasses, and, ducing the passage to New York distill the stuff into whisky—saving the revenue.

—A gentleman taken sick with yellow fever on board a Mississippi steamer was put ashore and remained on the river bank for two days, was robbed of his clothes and money, and finally died of starvation and neglect.

—Counterfeit United States 7-30 bonds of the A B series to the amount of $70,000 have been discovered at the Treasury, where they were sent for redemption. They are of the $1,000 denomination and well executed.

—The public money that Radical "reconstruction" will cost would buy enough land in South America upon which to colonize all the Southern negroes and pay the cost of their transportation thither into the bargain.

—Three Louisiana negroes recently killed a young man, keeper of a store, by chopping his head and face with an axe, cutting his throat and stabbing him seven times. This they did to procure money, rum and dry goods.

—Two nice young men of Virginia, Ill., named Thompson, have paid $50 and costs each, for breaking up a dancing party by sprinkling Cayenne pepper on the floor of the hall when the fantastic toes were tripping one evening last week.

—The Pacific Railroad is now receiving hemlock railroad ties from Chicago, five hundred miles, and then up the road four hundred miles—nine hundred miles by rail—at a cost delivered at the Missouri River, of not over eighty cents per tie.

—The Catholic priests in New Orleans have many of them died of the epidemic. The Times speaks enthusiastically of the zeal they show in fulfilling the painful duties imposed upon them in ministering to the spiritual wants of the sick and dying.

—The cashier of the First National Bank of New Milford, Connecticut, is a defaulter to the amount of $50,000. He was regarded as an honest and religious man, but got into stock gambling with the common result. He has gone to Canada.

—Two Tennesseans built a fire under a cow to make her move, and the creature died of torture. The next day one of these men passed the place on horseback, the horse became frightened at the dead cow, threw his rider and nearly killed him. A neat case of poetical justice.

—Levi Silliman Ives, D. D., L. L. D., formerly Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church, of North Carolina, and well known for his religious writing, Philanthropic works, and conversion to the Catholic faith, died at his residence in Manhattanville, N. Y., Monday afternoon.

—A few days ago Mark Dempsey, an engineer on the Lehigh Valley railroad, fell from the train, the wheels of which passed over and cut his body into pieces. He was dragged over one hundred yards and horribly mutilated. His fragmentary remains were found strewn along the track for the above-mentioned distance.

—In New Orleans, according to the reports of the newspapers of that city, there have been no less than 40,000 persons who have had the yellow fever during the present season. The New Orleans Times attributes the wide spread of the disease to the neglect of the public authorities to keep the city in good sanitary condition.

—The editor of the Louisiana Democrat saw, a few days ago, in Alexandria, an old negro freedman, at least eighty-five years old, with two large navy revolvers buckled to his waist, a pepper-box revolver in each breeches pocket, a huge sugar-cane knife in his bosom and a loaded walking cane in his right hand. He was a delegate to the Radical mongrel convention.

Lincolnisms.---Indelicate and Discreditable.

From the Cleveland Herald (Rad.)

Our readers in perusal of the article copied from the New York World, will agree in this, that the disclosure there made is very indelicate on the part of Mrs. Lincoln, and sadly discreditable to that person; for, of course, the private letters there spread out are published with the knowledge and consent of the writer. The New York Times says:

We believe it is no secret that Mrs Lincoln is in this city, under an assumed name, trying to dispose of a quantity of valuable laces, shawls, jewelry, and other articles received as presents by her while in the White House, from parties interested in securing her favor. * * * We have heard mysterious whisperings that unless they were redeemed by parties who had received political favors at the hands of their owner, very damaging revelations were likely to be made. The sooner they are made the better for the party, the country, and all concerned.

No person would be justified in dragging Mrs. Lincoln before the public, and in probing the domestic and private affairs of the White House, so far as she was instrumental in their administration; but Mrs. Lincoln has herself come before the world, appealing to the public for sympathy, and if that appeal results in disclosures, damaging to herself, she can alone be held responsible therefor.

It has been believed that charity and oblivion were the cloaks that should cover Mrs. Lincoln's career as mistress of the White House, and a generous public has been willing such should be the case; but if Mrs. Lincoln will not permit it, on her own head must lie the consequences Congress has been charitable, too, for it is well known that investigation has been suppressed through regard for the feelings of that lady. But we hope that nothing will now be kept secret, and that we may know the whole truth in the premises—let the scapel of investigation cut where it may.

A lady whose early life was one of very simple indulgences, and whose sphere was one of very limited circumference, suddenly raised to the possession of an income of seventeen hundred dollars per year, with a profusion of shawls ranging from seventy-five dollars to two thousand dollars, with dress patterns costing four thoussnd dollars, with flounce worth one hundred and fifty dollars, a parasol costing two hundred and fifty dollars, and a handkerchief valued at eighty dollars, with diamond rings to match, cannot expect plain, economical people to believe her when she complains of being pressed for means of common subsistence.

The facts are just these: Judge Davis, Lincoln's Administrator, reported that the estate was worth $75,000. Congress gave Mrs. Lincoln the President's unexpired year's salary, and also gave her $25,000 besides, the same as was allowed the late Mrs. General Harrison.

Congressman Wentworth pressed Mrs. Lincoln's claim for one hundred thousand dollars, but Congress did not think such a course justifiable. There are other facts that should see the light, and perhaps would explain Mrs. Lincoln's straightened circumstances. Among such facts is this, that a bill for $15,000 for jewelry purchased by Mrs. Lincoln, was presented to Congress and disallowed, and the secrets of that committee would divulge most remarkable items that through Mrs. Lincoln were presented for payment. We hope these things will be made public, and that it also may be known what the forty huge boxes sent to Chicago from the White House, after the death of Mr. Lincoln, contained. Let the country know the fact that it required an appropriation of one hundred thousand dollars to make good the spoiliation of the White House, and let it be proved who had the benefit of such plundering.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.—Letters of Administration on the Estate of Wm. Burk, late of Washington township, dec'd, having been granted to the undersigned by the Register of Cambria county, all persons having claims against said estate are requested to present them properly authenticated for settlement, and those indebted to the same will make payment without delay. EDWARD A. BURK, Adm'r.

MISCELLANIES, LOCAL AND GENERAL.—The Bedford Gazette has the largest circulation in the State.

The last Alleghanian is out in a manly denunciation of the "midnight handbill."

We invite attention to the advertisement of our young friend, Andy Maguire, in our paper to-day. We shall refer to it more at length next week.

Why did the radicals of the Indiana district lose a member of the Legislature at the late election? Because the Germans of the district wouldn't swallow Kimmel.

John D. Beck, Esq., Democrat, is elected State Senator in the Lycoming, Union and Snyder district, by a small majority. Hon. C. Wingard, formerly of this place, was a competitor.

Col. Hamilton A. Sloan, of Indiana, has recently been admitted to the Bar, after a very creditable examination. Success attend him. He is a brave soldier and most accomplished gentleman.

A young man named Kegg, of Bedford county, while engaged in feeding a threshing machine, a couple of weeks ago, had one of his arms drawn into the cogs of the tumbling shaft and terribly lacerated.

We stop the press to announce that we (the radicals) have carried the State by 800 majority. Glory enough!—Blairsville Press. That is all you stopped the press for you had better "let it run." Your majority is not yet left."

Rev. J. M. Wilson, formerly in charge of the Presbyterian church of this place, has been called to the pastorate of the Presbyterian church at Sharpsburg, Allegheny Co. Mr. Wilson is a zealous minister and most estimable gentleman.

About eight tons of coal fell upon a man named Wm. McKinner, who was at work in a coal mine near Sandy Hill, Huntingdon county, a few days ago, killing him instantly. He has left a wife and seven children in destitute circumstances.

In scanning our exchanges for election returns we find in a radical paper, amid the overwhelming news from Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana, that the radicals have carried Danbury, Conn., by one hundred majority. "All favors thankfully received."

Allen James Clark, of Indiana county, died in Saltsburg, on the 3d instant, at a very advanced age. He had served the State ably in the Legislature, the Reform Convention, and as Canal Commissioner. He was throughout life an unswerving democrat.

A man in Lewistown has in his possession an English Bible which was printed in 1634 two hundred and thirty-three years ago.—Exchange. The editor of the Freeman is possessor of a Bible which was printed in 1628—six years older than the Lewistown Bible.

Wm. S. Copeland and David M. Jones, long-resident farmers of Cambria township, this county, having recently disposed of their properties here, left with their families on Tuesday morning, for Iowa, where they go to locate themselves on farms in that flourishing State.

The Governor has signed the death warrant of Lena Miller, convicted in Clearfield only for the murder of her husband by administering arsenic to him in his coffee at various times during the month preceding his death, which occurred on July 12th.—Monday, Nov. 13th, is named for the execution.

Not the least gratifying result of the turn in the political tide is the election, in the Indiana and Westmoreland district, of Capt. H. M'Cormick, of Cherrytree borough, Democratic candidate for Assembly. He has his competitor 263 votes. His associate on the ticket, Mr. Fausold, failed, however, to make the riffle. More's the pity.

The Huntingdon Monitor says that Hon. Jeff. Calvin, of Hollidaysburg, declared in a speech delivered at a radical meeting in that place, previous to the election, that when the war was over and he looked back and saw the dangers we had escaped—the hairs on his head stood on end." This, in face of the fact that the old dunce wears a wig, and has not had a natural hair on his head for ten years.

We were pleased, on Monday last, to take the hand our young friend of other days, Jno. W. Dysert, who is at present on a visit to his brother, F. Sharretts Dysert, in this place. Mr. Dysert has been in the employ, in Boston and New York, of the Merchants' Express Company for the past three years, and is now on his way to Toledo, O., where he expects to locate in the service of said Company. John is a deserving young man, and we wish him a successful career in his new home.

The concert of the Beethoven Troupe, on Monday night last, the second one given here, was well attended and gave general satisfaction. The ringing of young Saylor, who has certainly a most melodious voice, was particularly well received, while the efforts of all the members were highly creditable to them as amateur vocalists. We hope to meet our young friends soon again, and that they will come with a larger selection of popular songs, and think we can guarantee them a fuller house than ever.

TAKEN DOWN.—As a matter of precaution the belfry on the Catholic church at this place was taken down last week and the bell has been removed to the pastoral residence and placed in position. It has been noticed for some time past that the ringing of the bell caused the candlesticks and ornaments on the altar to quiver, but it was not known that the removal of the belfry that the timbers upon which it rested were in such a decayed and dangerous condition. The building itself has evidently served its time, and as a matter of safety, if for no other reason, the congregation should join heartily and unitedly with the worthy pastor in pushing the new church to an early completion. It cannot but be a matter of surprise to all how so much has been accomplished in furtherance of this good work without any one feeling that he is any the poorer for the aid he has given to it, and this fact should impel every member of the congregation to further and more generous effort to have the brick work completed and the building put under roof before the winter sets in.—Now is the time to act, and when the work is completed our Catholic friends will have a church of which they may justly feel proud, and for which good Being to whose honor it is erected will bless them tenfold for the effort.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

ALTOONA, Oct., 14, 1867.

Friend Mac—We have met the sheep and the wool is ours. Hurrah! Hurrah! Bully! I think if the Rads. could read their title clear,
Right off to Salt River they would steer.

Oh what a grand and glorious sight it is to see the mighty uprising of a free and independent people against the tyranny and oppression more humiliating than the despotism of Russia or Hayti! I consider this expression of the people second only in importance to the Delaration of Independence. They have spoken in tones that cannot be misunderstood. They have said to the Rump Congress and its satellites, to the blasphemous defamer, Stevens, to the arrogant Dog Forney, and to the blistering General of seventy-six battles, (on paper,) who unfortunately occupies the chair once adorned and dignified by a Porter, a Bigler, a Packer, a Shunk, and others, thus far shalt thou go in the work of treason and destruction, and no further. This party, that was born in corruption, nurtured in treason, and lived in calumny, died of mortification on the 8th day of October, A. D. 1867, and may we not cherish the hope that it is killed so dead that the thunders of resurrection will never revive it again to pollute the free air of heaven with its pestilential poison.

Breathes there a man with soul so dead,
Who to himself hath never said,
"D—n the Republican party?"

We reduced the Radical majority in this county nearly 300. I attribute this gratifying result to the able, energetic and persevering labors of the Chairman of our County Committee, James Lowther, Esq., who is a genial, clever fellow, and a first class politician. That black corner of God's creation, Logan township, did wonders. They made Democrats there by a mechanical process, and this is the way it was done: A truly "loil" gentleman not many miles from here is building a warehouse in said township, and the contractor for the excavation is an American citizen of dark complection, who had in his employ a number of "loil" white men, and these were forbidden to stand or talk during working hours, under penalty of being discharged. They refused to be gagged in this way, and their services were dispensed with. Of course they considered this reason sufficient for voting the white man's ticket, and hence the increase.

I can scarcely write, I feal so unspeakably happy over the news. By the way, heard ye the tidings from the Buckeye State? She, too, has declared in thunder tones that the Union must, and, by the Eternal, shall be preserved. The true Union men of that good old State have determined to turn that low, obscene, drunken imposter, Wade, out of the U. S. Senate, and put in his place a man like the fearless, incorruptible Vallandigham.

There was quite a ludicrous bet made here on the result of the election, between Samuel Kitt, a Republican, and that sterling Democrat, Samuel Lloyd. Mr. Kitt agreed, if Sharswood was elected, to wheel Mr. Lloyd from the office of the Master Mechanic to his (Mr. Lloyd's) residence, and vice versa if Williams was successful. When it was definitely settled that he was in for it, Mr. Kitt made the necessary arrangements for fulfilling his obligation, on Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock, by appointing several of the main pillars of his party as his Aids. Among these was that honest, hard-fisted Republican, Benj. Burley, as chief assistant. Mr ——— master of ceremonies, and Mr. Fox orator for the occasion. The committee of arrangements did there work admirably. They procured a large wheelbarrow, and placed a seat in the centre and a banner over it bearing these words, "A poor old Democrat coming down from Salt River after eight years' residence." On either side was a beautiful flag, and I noticed that not a star was erased not a stripe obscured on either of them.

Precisely at 5 P. M. all the employees of the shops, the citizens of the town, and the heads of departments, assembled in front of the Master Mechanic's office. There was from twelve to fifteen hundred persons present. Soon Mr. ———, master of ceremonies, appeared harnessed up in the barrow, with a large Salt River pass in front of his hat, moving with the vehicle to the starting point. He was greeted with tremendous cheers. Messrs. Lloyd and Kitt, accompanied by their Aids, soon made their appearance. Kitt and his staff had their hats decorated with free passes to the saline regions, while these words were particularly prominent: "Ho for Salt River!" To the the surprise of all parties the martial band at this juncture marched to the ground, playing lustily. The stately and majestic form of Mr. Fox ascended the platform and delivering a very pertinent speech, after which the Aids led their chiefs to their respective positions. Lloyd was soon seated on the barrow with a newspaper in his hands, conning over the election returns, while Mr. Kitt took his place in shafts, the signal was given, the band struck up the "Rogue's March," the procession moved off, and amidst the yells and cheers of the populace the feat was accomplished. This was probably the most amusing bet of the season. Yours, &c., T. I. M.

JOHNSTOWN, Oct. 14, 1867.

Dear Freeman—The election passed off very quietly in this locality, but nevertheless the party leaders on both sides made a very determined fight. The result shows large Democratic gains in a majority of districts, and in several of the wards an unprecedented change from last year's vote. The principal interest here was centred in the candidates for Sheriff and Poor House Director, and Messrs. Blair and Thomas displayed their popularity by receiving the largest majority on the ticket. The losing candidates bear their defeat philosophically, although I suppose their confidence in human nature has doubtless fallen considerably since the election. Quite a good joke, in connection with one of the candidates, came off the night after the election. One of the aspirants had loaned his horse during election day to an enthusiastic individual, who made his appearance eveay few hours, with the gratifying information that he was "rolling them in" in his district. When the vote was counted a gain of only six voters was discovered for the owner of the horse. Whilst our gallant friend was animadverting in rather severe terms on the course pursued by the hero who was "rolling in" the votes, an Irishman in the crowd inquired, "And did yees get your horse back?" "Yes, the horse has been brought back," was the answer. "Then, under the circumstances, ye may be dom'd glad you got him," returned our Hibernian friend.

Reliable returns from the State came in but slowly, and it was not until Saturday that the Republicans acknowledged the defeat of Williams, whilst the Democracy were pretty generally sanguine from the first that Sharswood had been elected.

On Saturday evening police business was brisk—no less than five cases having been lodged in the stone house. Two of the cases had been mixed up in a free fight at a public house on Canal Street, and from the appearance of their physiognomies, had suffered severely in the engagement. Another individual who was "on the wing," induced by over indulgence in the flowing bowl, was cabbaged and cribbed for getting obstreperous.

Two shovers of counterfeit money, whose names are said to be John B. Wright and George B. Waters, paid our town a flying visit on Saturday and left several tokens of remembrance in the shape of $10 counterfeit National notes on a Philadelphia bank. They confined their operations solely to beer saloons, and probably shoved $150 in the various saloons of town. Their modus operandi was to enter a beer shop, drink a glass of beer, throw down a $10 bill and receive $9.90 good money in change. Burgess Kopelin telegraphed to Pittsburgh, and the two scamps were arrested by the depot police in a sleeping car, at an early hour yesterday morning, and placed in durance vile. Burgess Kopelin has gone to the city, and the two worthies will have a hearing to-day, and will doubtless be committed for trial.

The foreman of a shuck shop at Nineveh station, on the Pa. R. R., named Keller, a resident of Bedford county, while attempting to get on a freight train for the purpose of coming to this place, fell upon the track, and just at the moment the Cincinnati Express came along from the east, at lightning speed, and struck the poor fellow in the back, mangling him in a shocking manner, and killing him instantly.

Rev. B. L. Agnew has resigned the pastorate of the Presbyterian church in this place, which he has held for the last ten years.

Capt. Jas. H. Gageby, U. S. A., returned home last week on a brief furlough. Everybody in this section likes the Captain, and as he represents the county with honor and our town with credit, we are always proud to welcome him in his "pop" visits. May he ere long sport the "eagle."

As you will have plenty of material with which to regale the majority of your readers, I will stop short for this week.

SEU BAL.

THE MERMAID TICKET.—We are disposed to hand the spurious ticket down to immortality. Here it is in all its beauties. As soon as Rupert saw it he gave it the name of the "Mermaid Ticket," his reason being that it was lovely as a virgin at the head, but very fishy towards the tail: Judge of Supreme Court—George Sharswood. Assembly—John P. Linton. Sheriff—Richard Rickman. Commissioner—Francis Flanagan. Treasurer—William McDermit. Poor House Director—John S. Ogden. Auditor—One year, Charles Buxton; Three years, Thomas Van Scoyoc. Coroner—George Stineman.

BANNER DISTRICTS OF CAMBRIA.—If any county in the State can beat the following in the number of votes polled we should like to hear from it:

Allegheny.....	Sharswood	179,	Williams	21.
Cambria Bor.,	"	178,	"	14.
Carroll,	"	268,	"	24.
Carrolltown,	"	75,	"	6.
Chest,	"	112,	"	13.
Clearfield,	"	208,	"	19.

Washington,	"	186,	"	88.

BULLY FOR GEORGE.—We are pleased to notice that our young friend, George Yeager, of Altoona, has become the proprietor of a stove, tin and sheet iron ware establishment in that place. If George meets with half the encouragement his industry and fine social qualities entitle him to, he cannot fail to prosper and wax rich. We commend him most heartily to the liberal patronage of our friends in that bailiwick. Now, George, don't forget to send our boy a tin whistle or a "toot" horn.

DON'T FORGET, as you move along through life, that fortunes are made by living within your means and saving all you can, and if you don't forget this you won't forget to buy your goods at the cheap store of H. A. Shoemaker & Co. Harry keeps nearly everything worth keeping, and never permits himself to be undersold.

ALWAYS BEHIND.—It is no evidence of enterprise for a man to be behind in anything, but when we see a merchant almost constantly behind his counter dealing out goods to an anxious throng, we take it that the rule don't hold good in all cases. Jim Thompson holds that "posish," and his customers are the gainers by the operation.

FILLING UP.—We peeped into Cham. Roberts' clock, watch, jewelry and notion establishment the other day, and found that the long row of shelves which occupy the new addition to his store room are being filled with a varied assortment of choice goods. If you want what Cham. has he is the right man to buy from.

OUR wife one day a shopping went, as wives will sometimes do, but for the little money spent we were surprised to view the pile of goods which from her arms into our own she gave us, and with a smile which always charms, she whispered Mills & Davis. Store on Main street, adjoining Post Office.

THEY HAVE COME!—What has come? Why the fine new stock of goods which we told our readers Mr. V. S. Barker, on Main street, designed to supply his customers with this fall and winter. The assortment is really a handsome one, and the prices are down to the lowest notch. Go and see them.

ST. JAMES' HOTEL.—To any of our friends visiting the Smoky City we cordially recommend the St. James as a hotel where the very best accommodations are offered, and where a gentlemanly and obliging landlord is always to be found at his post.

PAY UP.—Mr. Hugh A. M'Coy desires us to say to all persons indebted to him for harness, saddles, or work of any kind, that he is much in need of money at the present time, and hopes that they will call and settle their accounts without delay.

INFORMATION.—Information guaranteed to produce a luxuriant growth of hair upon a bald head or beardless face; also, a recipe for the removal of Pimples, Blotches, Eruptions, &c., on the skin, leaving the same soft, clear and beautiful, can be obtained without charge by addressing
THOS. F. CHAPMAN, Chemist,

DR. J. H. JORDAN, Indianapolis, Indiana, says: "I have known Dr. Strickland's Pile Remedy to be thoroughly tested in numerous cases during the past year, and with perfect success in every instance. And so it is with his Remedy for Diarrhœa or Cholera, and his Cough Balsam. They are all genuine and pure."

THE advertisement of our book-bindery friends, Messrs. Geis & Reuth, of Johnstown, has been unavoidably crowded out of our columns this week. We shall give it a place and have something to say about it in our next issue.

THE RICHEST MAN IN THE WORLD.—Extract of a Letter from Baron Solomon Rothschild.—PARIS, 8th April, 1864. Rue Fauby, St. Honore.—Will you be kind enough to have forwarded to me here 200 bottles of your Indian Liniment; if you will send at the same time the account, I will forward you the amount through Messrs. Belmont & Co., New York.

Baron Solomon Rothschild having recommended to many of his friends Major LANE'S LINIMENT, and they being desirous to procure it, he should advise him to establish a depot in Paris.

THE INDIAN LINIMENT,

As a relief, ever ready; as a killer of pain, taken inwardly, or outwardly applied, has no equal. For the relief and cure of Rheumatic and Neuralgic Affections, Sprains, Bruises, &c, it is unequalled. It is also most efficacious, taken inwardly, in the cure of Cholera, Cramps and Pains in the Stomach, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, &c, and is without exception the most wonderful Panacea the world affords. No FAMILY should be without it. Every TRAVELER by land or sea should have a bottle. MINERS and FARMERS residing at a distance from physicians should keep it constantly on hand. In case of Accidents and sudden attacks of Stomach Complaints, its value cannot be estimated. Inquire for Major LANE'S INDIAN LINIMENT, and take no other. PRICE 50 Cts. per bottle. For sale at wholesale and retail by Demas Barnes & Co., 21 Park Row, N. Y.; Gale & Robinson, 186 Greenwich-st., N. Y.; F. C. Wells & Co., 192 Fulton-st., N. Y.; Chas. N. Crittenden, 38 6th Ave., N. DEFERRED NEWS ITEMS.

—It is intimated that the head of the Radical tariff business, Congressman Morrill, has come back from Europe a free-trader.

—Two St. Louis Radical war preachers lately went to see the Black Crook, (to get a good text, of course,) but they acted so strangely that the police arrested them.

—A barrel of new cider in a state of fermentation exploded in a store in Paris, Ill., the other day, knocking one man eight or ten feet, bursting the barrel into fragments, and scattering the contents in every direction.

—A new feature is about to be introduced in New York journalism. It is to be a critique of all the clergymen of any note in the metropolis. Their matter and manner are to be as coldly and impartially judged as they would be were they actors.

—A terrapin was found in Chesterfield County, Va., a few days ago, with the inscription "1775—W. W." upon his shell, After submitting to a rigid inspection from his finder, the venerable animal walked away with the slow step of age, the spectators perfectly satisfied of the date.

—Three years ago a little girl, five years old, in Fall River, Mass., pushed a button up her nose, where it remained, and has since been a constant source of pain. On Tuesday night, after annoying the girl three years, the button came out of her nostril, greatly to the relief of the girl and her parents, who had doubted about its being there.

—A Richmond paper speaks of a girl thirteen years old who committed fifteen hundred consecutive verses of the New Testament in one week, wearied out several teachers in reciting her lesson, and had brain fever next day. The Hartford Times says that a girl of sixteen is dying in that city from the effects of a disease caused by over study at school. And the Boston Traveller notices the case of a young lady who recently died in a suburban town, and her physician says that her death was undoubtedly caused by hard study.

—A hotel keeper at Lancaster, Pa., recently learned something in this wise: Two countrymen took lodgings at his place, and fared sumptuously, drinking three bottles of wine daily. The last day, and before they had settled their bill, a dispute arose about the speed of their horses. They at last settled upon a race, and appointed the landlord judge. When they were ready, the judge, like those of the Olympian games, gave the word—one, two, three, and go. Away they went, and have neither been seen or heard of since.

VALUABLE RECIPES.

A SPECIFIC.—The medical profession are generally severe on specifics, yet sometimes recommend them. The London Scalpel, the highest medical authority in the world, gives the following as an infallible cure for small pox and scarlet fever: Sulphate of zinc, one grain; foxglove (digitalis), one grain; half a teaspoonful of water. Take a spoonful every hour. Either disease will disappear in twelve hours. For a child smaller doses, according to age. It is stated that if countries will compel their doctors to use this there would be no need of pest houses.

TO EXTERMINATE RATS.—We find the following going the rounds of our exchanges: "Take a bunch of matches and soak them over night in a teacupful of water; then take out the matches and thicken the water with Indian meal to a thick dough, adding a spoonful of sugar and a little lard. Lay about the premises where the rats are and nothing else will get it. It is decidedly the best exterminator known." Give it a trial.

REMEDY FOR EAR-ACHE.—My wife was once suffering intense pain from ear-ache caused by a tumor inside, and after our remedies all failed to give relief I called in a neighbor, who poured vinegar upon a hot brick, and with a funnel conducted the steam into the ear. Relief was quick and permanent.

A REMEDY FOR TOOTHACHE.—One drachm of alum reduced to an impalpable powder, three drachms of nitrous spirit or ether; mix, and apply to the tooth on cotton.

HARTFORD
LIVE STOCK INSURANCE COMPANY.
CASH CAPITAL $500,000.
We are now prepared to insure LIVE STOCK against both Death and Theft, in this live and reliable Company. Owners of stock have now the opportunity, by insuring with this Company, of obtaining security and remuneration for the loss of their animals in case of DEATH or theft.
OWNERS OF HORSES,
Manufacturers, Farmers, Teamsters, Expressmen, Physicians, and in fact all who are to any extent dependant upon the services of their horses in their daily vocations, should insure in this Company, and thus derive a protection against the loss of their animals, which are in many cases the sole means of support to their owners.
FARM STOCK.
Farmers and others owning cattle should avail themselves of this means of saving the value of their stock, and secure an equivalent for the loss which would otherwise fall heavily upon them in being deprived of their Cattle, by insuring in this, the
PIONEER COMPANY OF AMERICA!
By insuring in this Company you exchange a certainty for an uncertainty. No man can tell whether his animals may not be stolen or die through some unforseen calamity.

MEDICAL PREPARATIONS.

POLAND'S
Magic Bilious Powders

This Preparation is the discovery of Rev. J. W. Poland, formerly Pastor of the Church in Gollstown, N. H.—a man dearly beloved by that denomination throughout N. England. He was obliged to leave the pulpit and study medicine to save his own life, and his MAGIC POWDERS are one of the most wonderful discoveries of modern times. It is the GREAT LIVER AND BILIOUS REMEDY, which completely distances all other discoveries in medicine, and it affords him much gratification to know that they receive the unanimous approbation of all who have tested them. The Magic Bilious Powders are a POSITIVE CURE for LIVER COMPLAINT in its most aggravated form, and an immediate corrective for BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS. Excellent for Headache, Constipation, Pimples, Biliousness, Sallow Skin, Drowsiness, Dizziness, Indigestion, Heartburn, and a most wonderful
Cure and Preventative of Fever & Ague.
(We advise all who are troubled with this fearful malady to always keep the Powders on hand ready for immediate use.)
Here are a few important particulars:—1st. They are the great specific for Liver Affections. 2d. They are the only known remedies that will cure Liver Complaint. 3d. They are the only known remedy that will cure Constipation. 4th. The Powders are so thorough in their operation that a single package will be all that the most completely bilious person will require to secure a cure. 5th. They are a mild and pleasant yet the most effectual cathartic known. 6th. They are the cheapest and best medicine extant. 7th. They can be sent by mail to any part of the globe for the price, 50 cents.
Circulars, containing certificates, information, etc., sent to any part of the world free of charge. ☞Sold by all Druggists, or sent by mail on application to
C. G. CLARK & CO., Gen'l Agents.
Price, 50 Cts. per Box. New Haven, Ct.

COE'S DYSPEPSIA CURE.
This great remedy for all DISEASES OF THE STOMACH is the discovery of the inventor of Coe's valuable Cough Balsam, while experimenting for his own health. It cured Cramp in the Stomach for him when had before yielded to nothing but chloroform.
The almost daily testimony from various parts of the country encourage us to believe there is no disease caused by a disordered stomach it will not speedily cure. Physicians endorse and use it. Ministers give testimony of its efficacy; and from all directions we receive tidings of cures performed.
Dyspepsia it is sure to cure. Headache one dose will cure. Sick Headache is cured in hundreds of cases. Headache, Dizziness it stops in thirty minutes. Acidity of the Stomach it corrects at once. Nausea of the Food it stops immediately. Distress after Eating one dose will remove. Chills and Morbus rapidly yields to a few doses. Offensive Breath will be changed with half a bottle.
IT IS PERFECTLY HARMLESS.
Its unprecedented success is owing to the fact that it cures by assisting Nature to assert her sway in the system.
Nearly every dealer in the United States sells it at ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE.
